

Blurb

In a Nutshell

I am an innate problem solver who endeavors to find creative solutions to difficult problems, always keeping the bigger picture in mind so they mesh seamlessly with already established systems and conventions. I am proactive, smart, adaptive, and constantly desire to investigate and learn new things.

Objective

To empower artists to focus more time on their craft during productions by creating intuitive toolsets that eliminate menial tasks and streamline workflow. To work with leads in educating artists and developing tools that enhance the creative process, raising the quality of work produced.

Experience

Pipeline TD - Reel FX Creative Studios (2005-Present)

At Reel FX I have worked on numerous film and commercial projects, soliciting feedback in order to create tools that optimize artist performance. I play a key role in implementing new systems that revolutionize how to approach and budget productions as a studio, as well as facilitating growth in the company by continually helping to reduce turnaround and improve the quality of work.

Product Engineer - Airfoil Impellers (1999-2005)

At Airfoil I worked with department managers to further improve the role of computer technology and its impact on the company. I implemented their first computer network, established their first website, and helped standardize their production drawings for both customer review and manufacturing.
